STEEL LABOR LEADERS TALK WITH JOHNSON

CLAIM LITTLE PROGRESS IS BEING MADE

Cotton Textile Union Calls Strike For Next Monday

By Richard L. Turner.
Associated Press Staff Writer.

Washington, May 31.—(AP)—Steel labor leaders tonight tried to cool the tempers of militantly impatient followers while they laid down the alternative of union recognition or a general strike throughout the industry two weeks hence.

Meanwhile, a widespread walkout in the cotton textile industry was called for Monday as the result of code authority orders to cut production by 25 per cent and consequently reduce the industry's $12 and $13 minimum pay envelopes by a proportionate amunt.

Talk With Johnson.

Leaders of both the union involved—the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Tin Workers and the United Textile Workers—conferred during the day with Hugh S. Johnson, the recovery administrator, and reported little progress made.

Meanwhile the "rank and file committee" of the steel union adopted tactics which Michael Tighe, president, and Edward W. Miller, vice president, called unauthorized and damaging to the union cause.

The two officers refused to sign an "open letter" to President Roosevelt, drafted by Earl J. Forbeck, chairman of the "rank and file committee." Forbeck and his associates, nevertheless, announced an intention of taking the communication to the White House and then making its contents public.

Tighe said a strike throughout the industry would be called unless recognition is granted by June 15 if a different view were not expressed at a national convention of the Amalgamated which he intends to call.

The Amalgamated contends the steel manufacturers have violated Section 7-A of the national industrial recovery law by refusing to join in collective bargaining negotiations with the union. In addition to recognition, the union is demanding a 30-hour week in those parts of the industry in which operations are continuous.

Forbeck said he and his associates planned to go to Uniontown, Pa., tonight for a meeting with United Mine leaders in the coal mines operated by steel companies, the so-called captive mines. If the steel

Farmer Has No Water To Place In Car Radiator

Quincy, Ill., May 31.—(AP)—Motorists brought in this drought story today and declared it was true.

The intense heat caused the radiator of their automobiles to boil. The car was halted at a farmer's gateway and the driver asked for enough water to fill the cooling system.

The farmer refused the request, explaining he had no water to spare because of the drought.

The mercury hit 102 degrees, one degree lower than on Memorial Day.

ABANDONS PLAN TO BOMB SELF INTO ETERNITY

Californian Had Been In Bread Line For Over Year

Alamadea, Calif., May 31.—(AP)—After waiting 24 hours for sleep to cause his fingers to slip from a switch and cause an explosion that would blow him to bits, Frank Bennett, unemployed mechanic, suddenly abandoned his sucide scheme this afternoon.

"I surrendered because the policemen convinced me there is a chance for life and a job," he said. "I've been in the bread line for a year and I couldn't stand it any longer."

He was held without specific charge while he proclaimed his sanity and protested against any prospect of being taken to a psychopathic ward.

Lays Switch Aside.

Apparently highly nervous after a day and night in his dynamite-laden automobile, he unexpectedly signaled police he was preparing to surrender. Then he laid aside the detonation switch with which he had constantly threatened to set off the blast, and stepped wearily from his car.

Police, approaching cautiously, asked him whether he had abandoned his plot. He nodded. The officers immediately seized him and rushed him to jail.

Other policemen were ordered to prevent a surging mob from approaching Bennett's automobile, which contained 48 sticks of dynamite and five quarts of nitroglycerine. Police expressed fear any jar would set off a terrific blast.

Throughout the night and day Bennett, who is between 42 and 46 years of age, had sat bold upright in his old automobile, parked on a stretch of marshy land about 100 yards from the ship-lined estuary between Oakland and Alameda.

Efforts of police during the night and this morning to dissuade him met with refusals.

"This is the best means of suicide," he told them.

His 14-year-old daughter, Virginia, came to try to prevail upon him to abandon the plan, but police were afraid to permit her to approach her father. When police urged him to consider his invalid wife and three children, he wept.

"I have been planning suicide for three years," police quoted the man as saying. "I considereded several means of suicide and some time ago got a gun to shoot myself, but I was arrested for carrying it and placed on probation.

"I was laid off as a mechanic three years ago, and have been sick and in the hospital several times."

QUINTUPLETS ARE GOING TO CHICAGO FAIR

Two Promoters Have Reached Agreement With Father

Orillia, Ont., May 31.—(AP)—The Dionne quintuplets, barring unforseen circumstances, are going to the Chicago World's Fair.

Their father reached an agreement tonight with two Chicago promoters under which Mrs. Ovila Dionne will take her five baby daughters for exhibition under terms which were not divulged.

An all-day conference was held between Dionne, Father Daniel Routhier, E. Greene, and the two promoters, whose names were not given.

Father Routhier and Greene represented Dionne. The former acted as translator, since Dionne, who speaks French, is not very proficient at English.

The principals in the transaction refused to make a statement. Father Routhier said "this is a private matter."

Corbeil, Ont., May 31.—(AP)—Dionne quintuplets continued to thrive tonight in their farm home near here with the aid of a changed diet and more convenient sleeping arrangements.

While the three smaller babies were cared for in an incubator and the other two in the basket which formerly was the bed for all of them, gifts of many sorts were arriving at the Dionne home.

Five complete layettes were received for the little girls today and food and clothing for the 24-year-old mother came in every mail. Three persons sent rabbits' feet.

Dr. A. R. Dafoe, who attended at the birth Monday morning, changed the diet to human milk which is being supplied from Chicago, Toronto and other places.

Chicago, May 31.—(AP)—Five baby cribs were presented to the quintuplet daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Ovila Dionne of Corbeil, Ont., today by a Chicago hotel.

The hotel wired Dr. A. R. Dafoe, the physician caring for the family, that five beds would be sent by airplane at once.

Dr. Dafoe sent the following telegram in reply to the offer:

"Babies doing fair but weak. If living for month will accept your offer. At present all in one basket. Thanks."

SUPPORTERS OF MCLEOD BANKING BILL WIN POINT

Secure Enough Signatures To Force Vote on Measure June 11th

Washington, May 31.—(AP)—The supporters of a bill to return about $1,800,000,000 to depositors in closed banks won a victory today, but administration leaders contended it was an empty one.

Late in the afternoon the necessary 145th signature was obtained to a petition to force a vote June 11 on the McLeod bill, which would direct the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to buy all assets of closed National banks and pay off depositors.

However, plans to adjourn the session next week and the parliamentary situation were looked to by administration forces, which opposed the bill, to prevent its passage and probably even forestall a house vote.

The bill was introduced by Representative McLeod (R-Mich). It was unfavorably reported by the banking committee, and never given a top place on the calendar by the rules committee.

A petition was filed to bring the bill up for a vote despite the rules committee's failure to act. The petition needed 14 names, and that of Representative Ransley (R-Pa) today became the 145th.

Under house rules, a discharge petition may not be considered the last six days of a session. House leaders plan to introduce Monday a resolution calling for adjournment June 9.

Even though the senate did not accept that resolution, that body could not hold it and subsequently amend it to make adjournment as late as June 17 without permitting a house vote on the McLeod bill.

RECOVER BODY

Joliet, Ill., May 31.—(AP)—The body of an unidentified woman was removed from the Sanitary District canal near Lockport late today. The woman, about 40 years of age apparently had been in the water about ten days, and bore few identifying marks. An inquest will be held Friday.

104 AT PEORIA

Peoria, Ill., May 31.—(AP)—All-time May heat records were shattered when the official thermometer touched 104 degrees at 3 this afternoon. The mark was only three degrees short of the highest temperature ever recorded here.

Administration's Silver Purchase Bill Passed by Lower House 263 to 77

By Sam Bledsoe
Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, May 31.—(AP)—The administration's silver purchase bill—the first such measure since 1893 which had White House approval—was passed today by the House and sent to the Senate by the overwhelmingly favorable vote of 263 to 77.

Senate democratic leaders plan to take it up immediately after disposal of the pending tariff bill. They anticipate no difficulty in sending the measure to the White House for President Roosevelt's signature.

The principal provision of the silver program directs the secretary of the treasury to buy the metal until it constitutes 25 per cent of the metallic monetary stocks.

Needs Billion Ounces

Treasury experts have estimated that it will be necessary to buy about 1,300,000,000 ounces to attain the 25 per cent ratio. The present silver reserve of 690,000,000 ounces comprises about twelve per cent of the monetary stocks.

Proponents of the bill believe the purchases will raise the price of silver and expand the currency, although the amount of that expansion would be limited probably to the money spent in acquiring the silver reserve.

Passage of the bill was a foregone conclusion before the House met, although an unsuccessful republican attempt to send the bill back to committee and the final roll call vote consumed about two hours.

Chairman Doughton of the Ways and Means committee and his party assistants Cooper of Tennessee, Vinson of Kentucky and Samuel Hill of Washington, steered the bill to the point of the final vote yesterday, easily beating down both democratic and republican attempts to extend or curtail its powers.

Two hundred and forty-six democrats voted for the bill. They were joined by 14 republicans and 3 farmer-laborites.

Seventy-one republicans voted against it and with them were six democratis.

The measure is a compromise worked out by President Roosevelt and Senate silverites from conflicting plans that embraced almost every proposal for silver rehabilitation that has been heard since William Jennings Bryan went down to defeat, crying "16 to 1."

In his message to Congress asking passage of the silver bill, President Roosevelt made it plain that he hoped for international monetary action to stabilize monetary values and restore silver to the place it held as a precious metal before England's policy started its decline after the Napoleonic wars.

The views of conservatives during the House silver debate were summed up by Representative Luce, a Massachusets republican, who said the currency to be issued against the silver bought was "fiat money."

By contrast, Fiesinger (D-Ohio) who introduced a silver purchase bill of his own, called it a "sop" and a measure which would have little or no effect.

He and others assailed the proposal because it left the time and terms for the silver purchases to the discretion of the president. Supporters of the plan replied they had been assured the administration regarded the declaration of policy as mandatory and that Mr. Roosevelt and his secretary of the treasury would enthusiastically carry out the program.

Other provisions of the bill include permissive power to the president to take over the domestic stocks of silver at a price not to exceed 50 cents an ounce. The domestic store available for nationalization has been estimated at from 175,000,000 to 250,000,000 ounces.

The silver currency issued against the bullion purchases would be legal tender for all debts.

A tax of 50 per cent would be placed on all profits resulting from the transfer of domestic silver after May 15, 1934.

Silver in the hands of manufacturers and others for use in the arts and sciences would be exempt from the tax.

REFUSE PROTEST

Indianapolis, May 31.—(AP)—Stewards of the 500-mile race tonight refused to allow a protest on the finish of yesterday's motor speedway classic here, filed by Leon Duray of Los Angeles, owner of the racer which Mauri Rose of Dayton, O., drove to second place.

After a six-hour study of the time-recording tape, W. D. Edenburn of Detroit, chief steward; William Guy Wall of Indianapolis, and A. C. Pillsbury of Los Angeles, acting for Roy D. Chapin of Detroit who was the the referee, announced their decision.

DISPERSE CROWD

Hillsboro, Ill., May 31.—(AP)—Tear gas bombs were hurled by officers here today to disperse a crowd of about 1,000 which gathered on the courthouse lawn as three men went on trial for violation of a city proclamation against marching and demonstrations.

Disregarding requests by officers to disperse, the crowd left only after the tear gas was brought into use. Authorities said the crowd was led by communist agitators.

Actor Dies

Lew Cody

LEW CODY, FILM ACTOR IS FOUND DEAD THURSDAY

Death Is Apparently Due To A Heart Attack

Hollywood, May 31.—(AP)—Lew Cody, film actor and husband of the late Mabel Norman, was found dead in his home today. Death apparently was due to a heart attack.

The actor's butler, James Glen, summoned police. An ambulance surgeon said the 47 year old actor had been dead about 10 hours.

The body was found in a bedroom on the second floor of the palatial residence by the butler and Lee Westermann, Cody's masseur. Cody was clad in pajamas and was apparently asleep. The butler summoned police, who with the police surgeon, arrived a few minutes after the discovery of the body.

"We didn't think there was anything wrong for a second," the butler said, "and then we realized he had passed away."

Dies in Sleep

The actor had returned from his beach home to his city residence at 1 a. m. He apparently had died in his sleep.

"Mr. Cody went away to the beach Tuesday for a few days," the butler said. "He had a party there Wednesday night—there were a lot of film celebrities there.

"At 1 a. m. he came home in his car. I didn't see him, but I heard the car being driven in by Elmer Fry, the assistant butler."

Born in Waterville, Me., Cody was educated in Berlin, N. H., and McGill college, Montreal, studying medicine.

Early in life, he turned to the stage, winning fame in New York theatrical productions, and played on the road for several seasons. He began his motion picture career more than 15 years ago. He produced his own films for Robertson-Cole during the early days of Hollywood.

At various times he was under contract at First National, Paramount, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and other major studios.

Among some of his better known pictures are "Tea for Three," "The Demi-Bride," "The Gay Deceiver," "His Secretary," "On Ze Boulevard," "Adam and Evil," "Revelation," "Shooting of Dan McGrew," and "So This is Marriage."

For his early film days Cody probably will be remembered best for his work in "Rupert of Hentzau," "Husbands and Lovers," "Souls for Sale," and "Reno."

MAN LEAPS FROM PLANE, IS KILLED

Richmond, Va., May 31.—(AP)—Alexander M. Luke, Charleston, S. C., leaped from an airplane 1,500 feet in the air near here this afternoon, his body crashing to earth somewhere between Byrd airport and the James River Sailor's tavern.

The plane was operated by Pilot Beverly Howard, with Luke as a passenger. The plane was the property of the Hawthorne Flying school of Charleston, S. C.

Howard said he saw Luke hurl himself over the side of the plane and crash to earth.

Returning to the Byrd airport, Howard immediately reported the case to the Henrico county police. Sheriff T. Wilson Seay dispatched officers to search for the body.

Civilian conservation corps workers from Camp Harrison, who joined in the search for the body, returned to their camp late this afternoon reporting the search had been abandoned until tomorrow.

QUICK PASSAGE OF WAGNER BILL BEING SOUGHT

Labor Situation Causing Renewed Pressure

By Elton C. Fay
Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, May 31.—(AP)—The increasing seriousness of the labor situation brought renewed pressure today for immediate passage of the Wagner bill with its provisions for elections of employe representative for collective bargaining.

At the heart of the steel industry's dispute lay this grievance which in large measure brought on the long protracted arguments in the automobile industry several months ago.

Proponents of the Wagner bill said it would offer strong support for action by the president to order employe representative elections such as he promised yesterday in his approval of the steel code.

Would Aid President

Some Wagner bill proponents suggested the measure might be the only legal channel to which the president could turn in demanding that the steel industry permit workers to select their spokesmen for wage and hour bargaining.

Senator Wagner (D-NY), who offered the measure early in the session, today moved to restore to it at least two provisions which the senate labor committee clipped from his bill.

One of his amendments would put back in the measure a clause to allow the National Labor board to initiate hearings on complaints of unfair labor practices, such as employe firing or demotion for participation in labor activities.

The second would turn back to the labor board mediation powers which under the amended measure would have been handed over to existing agencies of the labor department.

Wagner said the purpose of both amendments was to make the board independent of any existing agency.

The ruling two days ago of a United States district court that the federal government had no power to intervene at the Weirton Steel company was taken by supporters of the Wagner measure as a strong argument for putting the provision into law by passing the bill.

As explained in the report of the senate committee, the Wagner bill would allow the labor board to take a secret ballot "or to use other suitable methods" to determine what representatives a plant employe group desired.

"Since the dispute may relate only to a single craft or a single plant the board is given the power to determine the appropriate unit for the election," the report said.

"In some instances, it may decide that the appropriate unit is the whole plant; in other cases, a particular craft. In cases in which a poll is taken of several different units, it is provided that each unit may be given representation in proportion to its membership."

CUBAN TREATY IS RATIFIED BY U. S. SENATE THURSDAY

United States Relinquishes Its Right To Interfere In Island Affairs

Washington, May 31.—(AP)—The United States fully relinquished its right to interfere in the affairs of Cuba today by senate ratification of the new treaty of political relations with the Island Republic.

The pact, abrogating the much-denounced Platt amendment, slid thru the senate without opposition and a minimum of debate.

"This treaty simply surrenders our contractual relations with Cuba and lets us resort to international law," said Chairman Pittman of the foreign relations committee.

"If I had my way," said Senator Fess (R-O), "I would not interrupt our present relations." But he interposed no objection to ratification.

The Cuban ambassador, Marques Sterling, sat in the diplomatic gallery through the brief formalities, and as soon as ratification had become a fact, he hurried to the press gallery and, through an interpretor dictated the following statement:

"Cuba is highly gratified with the prompt ratification by the senate without opposition. The treaty represents a new bond that will more closely unite the two countries. This is a real permanent treaty because it brings the countries together in closer association."

F. D. R. REVIEWS UNITED STATES GRAND FLEET

Heavy Fog Delays Pageant Several Hours

By Ben Robertson
Associated Press Staff Writer

New York, May 31.—(AP)—With the seas for miles echoing to the boom of saluting cannon, the grand fleet of the United States passed in stately review before President Roosevelt this afternoon and then entered New York bay in a triumphant homecoming.

A heavy fog delayed the majestic pageant for two hours. Early in the afternoon, however, the mist lifted and the flagship Pennsylvania plowed past the president, who stood at attention on the cruiser Indianapolis.

Airplanes rose in squadrons from the long, clipper-bowed carriers, Saratoga and Lexington, as the 87 warships paraded past the heavy cruiser.

Then the 700,000 tons of the nation' sea power moved slowly behind the president's vessel into the harbor in a line 20 miles long.

Ships Anchor

At sundown the ships anchored from the Statute of Liberty to Yonkers, and the president and his party came ashore.

Soon afterward, most of the 35,000 bluejackets, their "six weeks war" of maneuvers ended, were permitted to go ashore.

As Mr. Roosevelt, with secretary Swanson and former secretary Josephus Daniels stood on the forward gun turret of the Indianapolis, the sun beat down on great American flags flying from mainmast gaffs.

Twenty-one guns boomed a salute when the 35,000 ton Pennsylvania, flagship of admiral David A. Sellers, passed.

Immediately after came the Saratoga and Lexington, escorted by the swiftest destroyers in the navy.

Then loomed the 10,000 ton treaty cruisers, among them being the S. S. Houston, home again from a long tour in China as flagship of the American Asiatic squadron.

After the scouting fleet, based usually in the Atlantic, came the destroyers, some of them returning from the Caribbean, some from Alaska and Pearl Harbor, some from Guam and Samoa and Manilla.

Then came the light cruisers followed by the battle fleet, whose base is the Pacific ocean. Among the heavy vessels, protected by armor plates 15 inches and more in thickness, were the battleships New York Texas, New Mexico and Mississippi, all veterans of the world war.

At the rear and farthest in war from battle plowed the indispensible transportation train, the supply ships and oil carriers, the hospital vessels.

As these were passing the president's ship, which lay anchored in eighteen fathoms of quiet water, the Saratoga and Lexington began the launching of their planes. Within ten minutes, 186 yellow winged airships—the high hats, re red rippers, the crazy cats, and the flying dragons—were dashing overhead.

They dove and rose again, fell like leaves, and whirled about in wheels and figures eight and moved on, the sun shining on their wings.

About 100,000 persons, police estimated, were at the battery. A haze hung over the bay and obstructed a clear view of the vessels.

Two dozen sightseeing boats were kept in line by several launches of the marine police.

The Indianapolis turned north and headed for its pier at the foot of west 16th street. As it passed the French training ship Jeane D'arc, the cruiser's band played the Marseilles.

The crews of both ships lined the decks and stood at attention.

The Indianapolis had difficulty getting into its slip, taking more than a half hour before it was tied up.

Then the president smiling broadly and escorted by his naval and military aides, walked ashore as the Star Spangled Banner was played. He and Mrs. Roosevelt, with Mayor Fiorella La Guardia entered a waiting automobile and were driven to the Roosevelt town house.

FARMERS ARE FORCED FROM HOT FIELDS

Temperatures Rise To 110 At Aberdeen, South Dakota

By the Associated Press

Schools closed, farmers quit their fields and a convention recessed yesterday as thermometers boiled up to all time highs in many sections of the middlewest.

May made a hectic exit amid temperatures that in many areas were unprecedented for the month. The mercury mounted to the top-most point ever attained at Minneapolis, when it touched 106.3 degrees, but Aberdeen S. D. had a top of 110. Another new mark was recorded in the 106 degree heat at Freeport, Ill. School was suspended there and at Des Moines, Minneapolis and Keokuk, Iowa, in the corn state two deaths were attributed to the 105 degree weather. Chicago's temperature soared to heights never before reached during May. It was 98 in the loop, 100 at the World's Fair and 102 at the Municipal airport.

Other unusual readings included: Galva, Ill., 104; Peoria, Ill., 104; Rockford, Ill., 106; Moline, Ill., 102; Fairmont, Minn., 107; St. Paul, 105; Ottawa, Ill., 104; Topeka, Kas., 103; Mattoon, Ill., 101; Wellington, Kas., 103; Kansas city, 101.

Abandon Plows

Farmers in the vicinity of Champaign, Ill., abandoned their plows as the sun warmed to its task and the annual meeting of the Illinois Bar Association at Waukegan took a recess to permit the delegates to seek relief.

C. A. Donnell, federal meteorologist, said last month was the driest May in Chicago's history, had seven days with temperatures above 90 and had more sunshine than any May on record.

Forecasters announced there was a probability of some local showers in the North Central States in the near future and predicted cooler weather in most of the northwest and the northern and westerns portions of the middlewest.

Waukegan, Ill., May 31.—(AP)—Intense heat caused an early recess in the 58th annual convention of the Illinois State Bar Association today, with the 500 lawyers present deserting the assembly hall for beaches and other cooling spots.

The first session of the convention, which will continue until Saturday night, was spent in a discussion of the new civil practice act as compared with the old. A committee, headed by Prof. Charles T. McCormick of the Northwestern University School of Law, was named to study the possibilities of further revision. The recommendations of this committee are to be presented to the Illinois legislature which meets in January.

Springfield, Ill., May 31.—(AP)—J. H. Lloyd, assistant state director of agriculture, who is representing Governor Horner in efforts to assist drought stricken farm areas, will confer in Chicago tomorrow with members of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission on various plans under consideration.

Lloyd has not yet received an answer from E. B. Boyd of Chicago, executive secretary of the Western Trunk Line railroads, on the state's request that freight rates be cut so that hay and grains can be shipped from western states into Illinois.

Springfield, Ill., May 31.—(AP)—The temperature rose to an all time record for the month of May today when the thermometer registered 101 degrees, surpassing the previous record of 95.4 degrees established May 26, 1911. But .32 inches of rain has fallen in the city during May.

Furnace And Stove Fires Necessary At Duluth, Minn.

PETITION DISMISSED

Chicago, May 31.—(AP)—Lawrence C. O'Brien, former state representative who served a Leavenworth penitentiary term for income tax dodging, was repulsed in his attempted comeback to the legislature today when Circuit Judge Joseph Burke dismissed his petition for a recount of April primary votes.

O'Brien was defeated for the nomination in the 29th Senatorial District, but asked a recount, charging fraud in the tallying and illegal voting.

Heat And Wheat

On Thursday heat and wheat ran a race, and figures indicate that the heat won. The weather recorded 109 in Iowa, while wheat registered $1.02 on the grain exchange. But if the heat continues, wheat will rise higher and will outstrip the mercury.

The race has its tragic side, for it means the ruin of the nation's wheat crop if it continues. The wheat is now in the critical stage of development. The intense heat is burning the life out of the budding grain, which must surely shrivel and die unless rains come quickly.

Heat records for May have been smashed, and the lack of moisture is even worse than the extreme temperature. However, if there was humidity, the heat effects would be more intolerable, but less damaging to the crops.

Weather prophets have sought hopeful signs of rain, but we are constantly reminded of the old proverb, "All signs fail in dry weather." Even tho the snakes may come up from the river, and the smoke may go down toward the ground, we will believe in rain when we see and hear it. Signs will not save the wheat or keep the cattle from dying of thirst.

Hog and cattle shipments are increasing. Thursday Chicago markets had 42,000 hogs and 13,000 cattle, unusual numbers for this season of the year, and the drouth is to blame for this glutting of the market with unfinished livestock. There is no water.

Many cities and towns are now facing a water shortage. One Missouri community has passed an ordinance which will inflict a fine for the use of water, except for necessary purposes. Another town is negotiating for the lease of a deep well, while its citizens dig their wells deeper and haul water from neighboring and more favored regions. On a large stock farm in Pike county near Griggsville, truck drivers are kept busy hauling water from Pittsfield, a distance of several miles.

Thus the people fight to carry on in a time of drouth. Meanwhile the race between heat and wheat holds the interest. Even tho the drouth has brought "dollar wheat", it brings no joy to the farmer, who may not have any wheat to sell. He would rather have less heat and more wheat.

Kindness To Birds

A Chicago man was disturbed by a rustling in the walls of his home. He finally removed the stovepipe and noted that the noise seemed to come from the bottom of the chimney. He lowered a small rope gently down the chimney, and soon felt a slight tug on the line. He pulled it up carefully and brought from the dark hole a purple martin. He kept fishing until he got thirty martins from the chimney. He believes they dropped down the flue, but because of their wing spread, could not fly out.

Not only did the gentleman rescue the birds, but he put them in a basket and fed and watered them before turning them loose. It was a deed of real kindness to birds, and while it is somewhat unusual because of the circumstances, it furnishes an example that can be imitated by others, especially in this time of drouth.

Birds and animals find it very difficult to get water. Anyone who can provide fresh water for them will be doing his bit to preserve the bird life in this community. Observers have already noticed our feathered friends with their mouths open, suffering from thirst and heat. They will appreciate a dish of water wherever they find it.

Politics And Crime

Thursday's issue of a metropolitan paper carried a cartoon depicting the figures of Politics and Crime in an "unholy alliance." They were hiding in the shadow of the column of Justice. The picture brought a shudder to those who caught its full meaning.

But a story in the Chicago Daily News the same day must have caused a real thrill of terror to the law-abiding and liberty-loving citizen. The story says the Chicago gangs, not content with their alliance with politicians to whom they must pay hard cash for protection, have decided to run their own men for legislative posts.

Unless the citizenship of Illinois rouses itself, these gangsters will win some seats in the state House of Representatives and in the state Senate. Their candidates have succeeded in defeating men now holding seats in the legislature from several Chicago sections. What the people will do about this new underworld menace depends entirely on their own sense of political justice and morality. If these men of the gangs go to the legislature, they will be no worse than the people who vote for them.

The entrance of the gangster into campaigns for elective office carries the war against crime to a new front. Heretofore the suppression of crime has rested with the law-enforcement officers. The federal government has come to the aid of the states, where alliances between politicians and gangsters almost had the people whipped.

But now it will be up to the people themselves by their ballots to tell the gangster, once and for all, they have no use for him or his ilk. They must beat him at the polls, resist his strong-arm election day methods with force if necessary. If they fall for his blandishments and demagoguery and place him where he can weaken the laws of the state, they will get exactly what they voted for, and they will deserve it.

Part of the information in the Daily News story is quoted:

"Grabbing of political jobs has developed into the latest of the rackets to which Chicago's gangsters have turned their talents. Tired of furnishing gunmen to help elect professional politicians who will supply protection only for a price, gangland has apparently decided to elect their own fellows to certain offices. They can put themselves in a position where they may be able to dictate their own protection.

"The new scheme was given its first trial in the April primary. It was worked on a wholesale scale and with success in every instance except one."

Confusion From Names

The "National Underwriters," organ of the insurance business throughout the country, appropriately issues a warning against the confusion that results from the similarity of names of companies operating in the same territory. It points out that similarity in names causes embarrassment and confusion as to individuals as well as corporations. Frequently, its says, an insurance company with an excellent reputation for probity, progressiveness and sound management finds itself mistaken for another company of far less dimensions. The magazine then uses a series of illustrations to prove that similarity of names leads to unfavorable conclusions at to the soundness of some unquestionably sound companies.

People should consider carefully the exact names of companies before arriving at conclusions concerning the soundness of a corporation of any kind. Inexactness in names leads to unfairness to legitimate business.

As One Buddy To Another

(From Bloomington Pantagraph—)

Here is a little story—a true story—which may have a Memorial day moral. The Galesburg papers told the story, mentioning names of the persons in the home town, so it's not fiction although it has a sound like that.

B. G. (Barney) McGann is a railroad man living in Galesburg. He was in the World war, right in the midst of the bloody Argonne campaign, and in the last great drive he was struck by a piece of shrapnel from a high explosive shell.

Lester L. Goodell was a buddy of McGann's in the Argonne, and when McGann was all torn and bleeding from his wound, Goodell picked him up, slung him over his shoulders and carried him to a safe spot—that is, safe as any psot could be with shells bursting all around.

McGann got well, returned home to America, got a job and is now living comfortably in Galesburg.

The other day, a man who had the appearances of the ordinary hobo, appeared at McGann's home, said he was Goodell, asked for his war-time buddy, who happened to be in Chicago. McGann's wife, remembering Barney's story of his rescue by Goodell, told the "tramp" to make himself at home till Barney came back.

Next morning, Goodell had disappeared from McGann's house, and so had many articles of clothing belonging to McGann and his wife, including jewelry, heirlooms and an automatic pistol.

When Barney McGann came home and his wife told him the story, he was plenty tough that his old pal should serve him that kind of a trick, after having saved his life in the Argonne. McGann at first was glad when he heard that the police in Peoria had arrested Goodell; wanted him brought to Galesburg and prosecuted. Goodell was brought, put in the county jail.

McGann got to thinking it over and next day refused to swear out a warrant or to testify against Goodell. He remembered the Argonne, and he saved his buddy a trip to the pen.

The New Deal in Washington

Roosevelt Ready to Spring Champion of All His Vote Winning Lures . . . A Kiss for Mr. Snell From a Foe . . . Silk Stockings Paid Off in Minneapolis Strike . . . Great "Depravity" of Pickard Bared.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal and Courier Washington Correspondent

Washington, May 31.—Hard times may come knocking at the New Deal door this summer.

Business won't be brisk and labor troubles are sure. Criticisms of the recovery program will be coming faster and thicker as election campaigners warm up. And you may get to thinking that the New Deal is endangered by the elections.

But write it in your memory book, regardless of your slant on administration programs, that Roosevelt is still the peer among all our political medicine men.

His hole ace is as good as visible to cagier politicians in both parties. Roosevelt is going to propose a social legislation program which will hold out the promise of economic security to everyone, from childhood to the grave.

It will include unemployment insurance, health insurance, old age and widow pensions, perhaps legislation for shorter hours, and more jobs along with it.

If that program, presented as only Roosevelt can present it to the country, isn't the greatest vote-getter ever tossed into a campaign, the politicians will swap their pants for rompers.

After the last few years, at least 90 per cent of people think in terms of security.

Insiders on Capitol Hill know Roosevelt won't wait until congress meets in January to reveal his plans. He is the issue in this election and has no reason to miss a trick by keeping quiet.

And don't be surprised at a proposal to create a new cabinet berth, occupied by Secretary of Public Welfare Harry Hopkins. This may not have been decided yet. But it's in the cards.

A Kiss For Mr. Snell

When white-haired political war horses start throwing kisses at each other from opposite sides of the aisle, it doesn't mean anything. But there are instances about as rare as authentic cases of men who have bitten dogs.

To the large surprise of Democratic Leader Joe Byrns, Minority Leader Bert Snell agreed to unanimous consent on a bill which otherwise would have taken a lot of useless time.

It was then that gaunt, bushy-browed, 64-year-old Byrns raised a bony hand to his lips and threw Snell a tender kiss.

Old Grudge Paid Off

Federal agencies concerned with labor and industry had more than the obvious reasons for interest in labor's victory in the truckmen's strike in Minneapolis.

The trucking industry there was the backbone of the anti-union element and is compared with the steel industry and its similar position in the national industrial field. Further, the strikers weren't taking any orders from their superior A. F. of L. officials here.

Senator Wagner of the National Labor Board telephoned President Dan Tobin of the Teamsters' Union during the height of the street fighting and asked him what he could do to stop it.

Tobin had to reply that he couldn't do a thing. The truckmen had organized themselves and were making their own battle.

Meanwhile, the White House itself was receiving frantic reports from certain socially prominent persons who were in close touch. The burden of them was that the "best families" of Minneapolis were being beaten up and that federal troops should be sent to save them.

The story behind that is that most of the hundred or more special policemen whom strikers put in hospitals were employers or well-to-do men banded together in a citizens' alliance.

This group, with badges and clubs, had been doing strike duty for years and had cracked many heads. Nursing years of hatred, other union members joined the truckmen in beating them up. No regular policemen or firemen were hurt.

Another unusual strike factor noted here was Governor Olson's order that national guardsmen keep trucks off the street. That amounted to putting them on the picket line!

His "Depravity" Is Bared

Some Democratic congressmen are trying to oust Edward T. Pickard, head of the cotton textile division in the Department of Commerce, on the ground that he is a Republican.

The evidence thus far introduced against Pickard is the fact that he once persuaded Mrs. Hoover to wear a cotton dress as a publicity stunt for a use-more-cotton campaign.

Submits Report on Y. M. C. A. Activities

The fiscal year of the National Y. M. C. A., closed on May 1st and Secretary A. D. Hermann has submitted his annual report to the board of directors. The report sent from the Jacksonville Association shows that during the past year more than 1,350 boys, girls, women and men have enrolelid in the various activities under the direction of the local secretary. In addition to this number are the great number of persons who have attended as spectators the various games, entertainments, etc., which were a part of the YMCA activities.

During the year "Gra-Y" clubs have been promoted in each of the 5 grade schools of the community, with two Gray-Y officers training clubs for their officers, there have been two clubs of Junior high school boys, three clubs for high school boys and girls, the Young Men's club for young men out of high school, two recreational groups for young men and women, meeting regularly, a newsboys group, a chess club, a life problem discussion group, gatherings for colored families (last summer), and the First Ward neighboring gatherings. In addition to these there have been 51 different clubs and teams entered in the various leagues of volley ball, basket ball, base ball and playground ball, besides various other activities in which the Y of the YMCA secretary had an active part.

There were a total of 91 different clubs, groups or teams listed among the activities during the year ending May 1st.

Through the strictest economies the expenses for the year were reduced to $2,338.87, while the receipts were $2,343.10 from all sources.

For the coming year's program, it is hoped that we may again have the services of a part-time assistant to promote a greater program for girls and women this fall and winter, and that the headquarters of our work may be returned to the brick residence on West State street which has been closed during the past year in the interest of economy.

The program for the next three months includes several leagues of baseball and playground ball for boys and men (and also for women if there is sufficient interest), outings and organized groups of young folks and adults interested in trips to the World's Fair.

WILL ROGERS Says:

To the Editor of the Journal and Courier:

Santa Monica, Calif., May 31—President Roosevelt is giving Cuba a new treaty, the "Godfather" clause is taken out. All their revolutions art to be strictly "home talent." More news down that way, Porta Rica is to be "wet nursed" by the interior department instead of the army, the Philippines are rehearsing for peace, it wont be long now till our army will all be visiting America at one time. Thats the dope, get them all home, add to their number, add to their training, then just sit tight with a great feeling of security, and just read about foreign wars, Thats the best thing in the world to do with them.

ALL-BRAN RELIEVED HIS CONSTIPATION

Delicious Cereal Brought New Health to Mr. Bartholomew

We quote from his voluntary letter: "I had considerable trouble with my stomach. Digestion was out of the question. I got medicine which gave me only temporary relief.

"Then I thought of taking ALL-BRAN. I started eating a cereal dish-ful two or three times a day.

"It has been over a year now since I ate that first dish of bran, but from that day to this I have had the pleasure of enjoying the proper functioning of the digestive organs.

"Thanks to ALL-BRAN. I still eat it regularly and like it better all the time."—Lester Bartholomew, Cadillac, Mich.

Constipation is usually due to lack of "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to promote elimination. ALL-BRAN supplies both, as well as iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Certainly this food is more natural than taking harmful patent medicines. Two tablespoonfuls daily will usually overcome most types of constipation. With each meal in chronic cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Browns Pound Two Tiger Pitchers For 14 Hits to Win Game Easily 11 to 3

St. Louis, May 31.—(AP)—The Browns pounded Fischer and Hamlin for 14 hits, including three home runs and six doubles, to defeat the Detroit Tigers, 11 to 3, today and break even in the four game series.

Pepper's homer, his third in three days, knocked Fischer from the mound in the third inning. Bejma's circuit blow was the first of his major league career. Clift's came with the bases loaded.

Fischer, a southpaw, won five games from the Browns last year. This year he has started three games and failed to finish any.

Fine Pitching by Guy Bush And Heavy Hitting by Cubs Brings Defeat to Bucs 11-5

Chicago, May 31—(AP)—Chuck Klein's 14th home run of the season with two on base, two doubles and two singles by Babe Herman and fine pitching by Guy Bush after the first inning combined to give the Cubs an 11 to 5 victory over Pittsburgh today and a clean sweep of the three game series.

The victory promoted the Cubs to a second place tie with New York and demoted the Pirates, for whom it was the fifth straight defeat, into a fourth place tie with Boston.

Klein's homer, his second in two days, came off Bill Swift in the first inning after Stan Hack singled and Woody English walked.

Babe Herman drove in three runs and scored two himself with his assortment of hits, while catcher Gabby Hartnett doubled with the bases filled in the fifth to score three more.

It was Bush's eighth victory of the year.

WHITE SOX LICK INDIANS 12 TO 5

Cleveland, O., May 31. —(AP)— The White Sox pounded three hurlers for 17 hits today to defeat the Indians, 12 to 5, and gain an even break in the four-game series. Cleveland retained first place in the American League as the Yankees lost to Washington.

Sad Sam Jones, veteran Chicago pitcher, held the tribe in check for the full game. He was backed up by a tight White Sox defense.

Belve Bean and Ralph Winegarner, of the Cleveland pitching staff, were nicked for eight runs and seven hits in the third inning. Thornton Lee followed on the mound for the Indians and pitched well until the ninth when Zeke Bonura drove over Vosmick's head into the center field bleachers for a home run, scoring Hoos. It was Bonura's twelfth circuit drive of the season.

CARDINALS NIP REDLEGS 3 TO 2

Cincinnati, May 31.—(AP)—Granted a reprieve as the Reds muffed a golden opportunity in the seventh, the St. Louis Cardinals went on to defeat the home team, 3 to 2, in ten innings today.

A double by Frankie Frisch provided the winning run, driving in Mills, a substitute batter who reached the paths after being hit by a pitched ball, and advanced as Whitehead sacrificed.

With the game tied in the seventh, the Reds filled the bases as Lombardi and Derringer singled and Adams walked, but missed out as Piet forced Adams for the third out.

Trade talk filled the air today. Trading of Chick Hafey back to St. Louis was rumored as Branch Rickey conferred with Larry MacPhail of the Reds. Only 603 persons saw the game.

Jacksonville's first summer amateur boxing show, sponsored by the police department to raise funds to get them out of their winter woolens and into summer uniforms, will be staged tonight at the Greek Theater, bringing together the Golden Gloves teams of Springfield and Quincy in an outdoor attraction that is expected to attract about 1,000 people. The bouts will begin at 8:30 o'clock, with Paddy Walsh, Springfield, serving as the third man in the ring.

In tip-top shape after several weeks of drilling the Jacksonville team, composed of local and Springfield fighters will stage in miniature the finals of the Golden Gloves tournament in Chicago. Most of the fighters representing the two teams are champions in their respective divisions and the blows that fly when they meet champions from other districts should produce some real battles.

Manager Guy Woods, who will be the matchmaker for the affair, stood pat on his line-up last night. He believes Big Abe Feduris will show the local fans a thing or two about glove swinging despite his bulk, and he also is convinced that his string of boxers, from the light heavyweight on down to the flyweight, are ready to put on some real bouts.

Feduris, Clarence Robinson, Willie Barber and Floyd Mason are the local boys who will appear in tonight's bouts. Feduris won the heavyweight title in Springfield last winter, and Barber battled his way through the Flyweight ranks to a title. Barber fought in the tournament of champions in Chicago, while Feduris was forced to sit on the sidelines nursing a damaged optic.

Robinson, who has appeared here several times, and who always has given a good show, is in just as good shape now as ever. Mason, the peewee of the squad, has only a few bouts under his belt, but he proved his metal by staying through several tough rounds in previous bouts.

Tom Sutherland is another lad who has appeared here before. Sutherland hails from Springfield, along with Parnell, the welter champ, Al Cole, featherweight, and Eddie Shea, the lightweight title holder.

Policemen, who have been selling tickets for the bouts, reported that about 500 ducats have been placed in the hands of fans already, and that about that many more are expected to pay their way through the gate tonight. There will be a half hour concert preceding the bouts.

KNIGHTS DROP OUT OF VALLEY LEAGUE; SIX TEAMS REMAIN

Revise Schedule For Remainder Of Season—Will Continue With Six Remaining Teams—Roodhouse To Play Here Sunday.

The Illinois Valley Sunday baseball league, which began the season with eight teams, will continue for the remainder of the year with six teams in the loop, it developed at a meeting of the managers last night at which the Knights of Columbus forfeited their place in the league, along with Bluffs. The Knights gave as the reason for dropping out of the loop inability to secure a manager for the team.

The Roodhouse Blues, who have turned up with a fighting team, will come to Jacksonville this Sunday for a game with the Jacksonville Indees on the Nichols Park diamond. The Alsey and Manchester Tigers, who for some time considered withdrawing from the loop, reconsidered their plans and this Sunday will entertain the Morgan Indees, one of the local teams still in the fight for the championship. Winchester's Indees, will invade Beardstown this Sunday for a round with the loop leading Mac's Clothiers.

The schedule was being revamped for the remainder of the season, and will be announced shortly.

DODGERS DEFEAT GIANTS 6 TO 2

Brooklyn, May 31.—(AP)—The Dodgers unleashed all their pentup desire for a victory over the Giants in one big inning today and wound up the Interborough series with a 6 to 2 triumph, their first of the season over New York.

All six Dodger runs were scored in the seventh as Hal Schumacher blew up after giving only four hits in the first six frames. The defeat not only cost the Giants a possible chance to take the league lead but dropped them into a tie with the Chicago Cubs, who beat Pittsburgh.

SENATORS WHIP YANKEES 9 TO 3

New York, May 31.—(AP)—Washington battered the Yankees around in an old fashioned slugging match today, combining 14 blows off Russell Van Atta and George Uhle with four New York errors for a 9 to 3 victory. The Senators took the series, 2-1.

Monte Weaver, Senator pitcher, was hit in every inning, but spaced the blows well enough to go the route, although Tony Lazzeri's sixth homer left him with only a one-run lead in the seventh. Van Atta was batted out in the sixth after giving three runs in the fifth. The Senators rushed over five more tallies in the last inning when the Yanks made three of their misplays.

"Hold the Highball—Make Mine Drewrys Ale"

Apparently with everything to drink, there is still a question of what to drink.

A spot of firewater and a splash of fizz. Down the gullet—and gone. No good.

Or a bottle of mellow, full-bodied Drewrys Ale.

Same alcohol strength as the highball. But such a nice, lingering, agreeable, thirst-quenching period of time before the twelve-ounce bottle goes upside down and right-side up again. So, as summer approaches—

"Hold the highball—make mine Drewrys Ale" has grown to be quite a chorus at the better bars.

Mail Carrier Has Thirty Year Record

Waverly, May 31—Orrin McCormick, who has been a rural mail carrier from Waverly for the last thirty years, will retire from service today.

Mr. McCormick's thirty years of service were completed May 2, but he continued in active service during May, and now enters the retired list with a pension for life. He entered the mail service in 1904, his route covering twenty-four miles for twenty years. The route was then extended to cover twenty-seven miles, and continued so until the present time. Mr. McCormick's route, which was No. 3, will be consolidated with Routes No. 1 and 2, Fletcher Burch to be carrier for No. 1 and Lewis Walker for No. 2 both having been carriers from this city for a number of years, each of their routes new being increased in mileage.

When Mr. McCormick became a mail carrier, (one of the first carriers from Waverly) automobiles were not in use in the country, and he drove a team of horses for many years. The roads were often almost impassable. He is the first to complete the thirty years' service here, and be placed on the pension list.

Five Will Compete for Silver Medal

Jerseyville, May 31.—There will be a silver medal contest in the Baptist church at Jerseyville Friday evening, June 1. The contest will begin at 7:30 o'clock with participants. Music for the occasion will be furnished by William Thatcher, Jerseyville boy organist. There will be no charge for admission and no collection taken, the event being sponsored by the women's Christian Temperance Union.

Between three and four hundred people made the pilgrimage to Otterville Sunday afternoon to the monument erected by George Washington (colored) in memory of his master, Dr. Silas Hamilton, founder of the first free school of the State of Illinois.

The principal address of the afternoon was made by W. B. Lewis, principal of the Lovejoy School of Alton.

Girl Graduates Brides

Two weddings which came as a surprise to friends in Jerseyville, were those of Miss Florence McElvain and Miss Mary Frances McDow, members of the 1934 graduation class of the Jersey Township high school, which took place Saturday, May 26th at the Methodist parsonage in Salem, Illinois.

Miss McDow became the bride of Russell Whyte of Alton at two o'clock that afternoon, Rev. W. J. Fahnestock, pastor of the Methodist church of Salem, performing the cermony. They were attended by Miss McElvain and Frank Scoggins of Jerseyville.

Immediately following the Whyte-McDow nuptials, Miss McElvain and Mr. Scoggins were united in marriage by Rev. Fahnestock, with Mr. and Mrs. Whyte serving as their attendants.

Both of the brides wore their graduation dresses, attractive white ensembles. The girls had been intimate friends during the four years they attended the local high school and although other classmates knew of their engagements the plans for the double wedding was kept a secret by the two couples.

Miss McDow is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer McDow of Elsah Township. Mr. Whyte is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Whyte of Dow. At present he is employed at the Western Cartridge factory in East Alton and he and his bride will reside temporarily with the latter's parents.

Miss McElvain is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer McElvain of Jerseyville. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scoggins also of this city and he is employed by the Cockrel Trucking company. For the present Mr. and Mrs. Scoggins will reside with the latter's parents but they expect later to establish their home in this city.

URGES CITIZENS PUT OUT WATER FOR BIRDS

A Jacksonville woman who takes much interest in song birds and their welfare Thursday called attention to the importance of keeping adequate supplies of water at the disposal of the feathered population. The drought has made it impossible for birds to drink at many of the usual watering places.

This woman appealed to all citizens to keep water in bird baths or pans on their lawns. The added drinking places for the birds also will prevent suffering among animals such as dogs, cats, squirrels, and rabbits.

DECLARES BARRIERS REMAIN BEST HOPE OF SAVING THE CORN

Urbana, Ill., May 31.—Favored by the continued dry weather, chinch bugs are becoming so serious that they will soon be making short work of thousands of acres of corn unless farmers take steps immediately to establish barriers around corn fields, according to a warning by W. P. Flint, chief entomologist of the Illinois State Natural History Survey and of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

Hordes of the pests will soon be leaving fields of destroyed small grain to continue the destruction in corn, and only the prompt building of suitable barriers will prevent what threatens to be ruinous losses, if the weather stays dry, Flint said.

These barriers can be made by plowing a furrow around the field, throwing the dirt toward the corn and then smoothing this ridge, which should be 6 to 8 inches high. The furrow should be worked down with a plank drag so that it will have a smooth, dusty surface.

After this has been done, post holes 18 inches deep should be dug along the ridge side of the furrow about 15 feet apart. The tops of the holes should be flared and kept dusty so that the bugs will fall into them as they scramble along the side of the furrow seeking escape.

As soon as the chinch bugs begin migrating from the small grain to the corn fields, a liquid repellant should be poured along the top of the ridge. Crude creosote (not the expensive wood perservative type) naphthalene drain oil and to some extent pine tar oils are the most effective repellants because of their strong, disagreeable odor. Ordinary road oil and used crank case oil do not have sufficiently repellant odor and are not worth the labor of application.

A handy container for applying the crude creosote or other repellant material can be made by punching an 8-penny nail hole in the side of a metal bucket, about an inch from the bottom and directly below the point where the bail is attached. A stream of creosote of napthalene oil flowing from such a hole will form a line on the barrier ridge wide enough to turn back the bugs.

The repellant material should be renewed between 1:30 and 2:00 o'clock each afternoon for the first several days, and then every other afternoon during the 14 to 18-day period when the bug migration is active. Bugs trapped in the post holes should be destroyed each afternoon about sundown by pouring one or two tablespoonfuls of kerosene into each hole, scattering it over the bugs. The kerosene should not be ignited.

Between 35 and 50 gallons of the repellant solution will be sufficient to maintain a quarter-mile barrier during the danger period, and the usual cost is about 15 cents a gallon. An acre of corn saved will usually more than pay for the maintenance of a barrier one-fourth mile long.

PUBLIC SALE

Friday's sale at Woodson will have horses, choice milk cows, black Angus bull, black stock cattle and other cattle and all natives. Lumber, posts, nearly new binder. Other things as usual.

CLAIM LITTLE PROGRESS IS BEING MADE

strike is called, he said, he hoped to bring the miners out in sympathy.

Little possibility of a compromise in the textile strike situation remained tonight. Union leaders asserted the only thing that could avert the walkout would be revocation of the production cut order and a reduction of maximum code hours from 40 to 30, with no decrease in weekly pay.

"The issue at stake," said Thomas F. McMahon, president of the Textile Workers, "apparently is whether the workers are willing to accept a 25 per cent wage reduction. The answer, based on telegrams from our workers in north and south, is an emphatic 'No.'"

BOLIVIA APPEALS TO LEAGUE TO HALT WAR IN THE CHACO BOREAL

Geneva, May 31.—(AP)—Bolivia appealed to the League of Nations under two articles of the covenant today to end its war with Paraguay in the Chaco Boreal of South America.

This sensational development came at the very end of a league council meeting after representatives of both nations had spoken to the assembled members.

First, Costa Durels, Bolivian delegate, invoked Article 13 whereby disputing nations may ask arbitration.

He was answered by Caballero Bedoya, Paraguayan representative, who said: "We cannot allow arbitration to be a snare for the nation's good faith."

Then Costa Durels appealed for a settlement of the dispute under Article 15 which authorizes the council to make recommendations for the settlement of disputes without the vote of the disputants.

The latter article is a step preceding the possible application of military measures against an aggressor nation. It authorizes the council to publish a report of the dispute.

Rambling notes Hooker left indicated he had been brooding and contemplating the killing for some time, police said. They said he could no longer stand to see his daughter suffer, that his head was "beginning to feel queer" and he could see nothing else to do. Hooker had worked in the business department of the Spokane Daily Chronicle for many years.

WARN LIQUOR VIOLATORS

Carlyle, Ill., May 31.—(AP)—The Clinton county grand jury today issued a warning to liquor law violators to stop illegal practices immediately or the county would be forced to adopt prohibition measures.

"The racketeer and the moonshiner must not be permitted to rule even the smallest percent of Clinton county citizens or its officers the report said.

The grand jury warned liquor dealers to stop selling liquor to minors and drunkards; to stop selling without licenses and to remove all gambling devices as well as to keep opening and closing hours.

SNELL CRITICIZES BILL

Washington, May 31.—(AP)—Representative Snell (R.,N.Y.) denounced today what he termed a Democratic attempt "to buy the fall elections with 100,000 jobs."

The House Republican leader referred to the Lozier bill for a special November census of unemployment, agriculture and live stock. It would set 100,00 persons to work gathering the data at a cost of $9,810,000.

"It is a patronage bill, pure and simple, framed and designed to carry the November congressional elections," Snell said.

Carrollton business callers in Jacksonville Thursday included Jasper Hutchens.

Ten Changes in the State Criminal Law Proposed by Judges

Chicago, May 31.—(AP)—Ten changes in the criminal law were recommended by the Chicago criminal court judiciary to speed up justice.

In a report submitted yesterday to the judges of the state supreme court who, under the law, are required to draft the necessary legislation for submission to the legislature, the judiciary made the following recommendations:

1—Change in the peremptory challenge law, which would limit the number of challenges irrespective of the number of defendants in the case.

2—Revision of the probation law to deny probation for larceny or embezzlement where the amount involved is more than $200.

3—A change in the petit larceny law which would raise the amount from $15 to $200, giving criminal courts more time to deal with important cases as the municipal courts took over much of this work.

4—Abolition of the change of venue law to allow only one change from the judge to whom the case is assigned, regardless of the number of defendants.

5—A law prohibiting the issuance of a writ of habeas corpus for a prisoner under prison or asylum sentence, in any county other than the one in which the convention was obtained.

6—A change in the stay of mittimus provision which would allow only one stay for a period not to exceed 5 days, to stop undue delays in carrying out sentences.

7—A change in the law which would give the trial judge the power in long trials to swear in two alternate jurors to act in an emergency.

8—Virtual abolition of the indeterminate sentence law.

9—Provision by jury verdicts of three fourths of its members.

10—Placing automobile larceny and larceny from the person (pickpockets) under the habitual criminal statute.

HARVARD HEADS LIST OF LEADING SCHOOLS

Chicago, May 31.—(AP)—The American Council on Education in a report of the committee on graduate instruction ranked Harvard, California, and Wisconsin at the head of the list.

The committee selected thirty-five fields of knowledge in graduate work and asked a jury of 100 scholars in each of these fields to name the universities which possessed staff and equipment to prepare candidates for the doctorate.

The departments were given "distinguished" and "adequate" rankings, both requiring a majority vote. Departments not reaching an adequate vote were not listed. No single university offered graduate work in all the thirty-five fields.

WHEAT PRICES PASS $1 MARK

By John P. Boughan,
Associated Press Market Editor.

Chicago, May 31.—(AP)—Driven wildly upward almost 7 cents above prices toughed early, wheat late today far overtopped $1.00 a bushel, ignoring every influence but record-breaking crop damage.

Official forecasts indicated no relief at hand for widespread drought and intense heat that government spokesmen said were curtailing wheat prospects a million bushels every 24 hours. Only the federal trade limit, restricting average advances to 5 cents a bushtel net in any single day, put a stop for the time being to the excited buying witnessed.

It was the first occasion since last August that wheat in Chicago had reached $1.00, and the impetus given by crop damage reports rushed all other cereals as well as wheat to heights unequaled heretofore this season. Hope for small grain in many parts of the nation had been abandoned, trade reports said.

Wheat closed buoyant at the day's closed, 47-5⅛ above Tuesday's finish, corn 3¾-4 cents up, oats 2¾-3¼ cents advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 30 cents.

Extreme top limits for a single day's advance of prices were encountered not along in wheat but for corn, barley and oats. Transactions in all grains reached an enormous aggregate.

Tumultuous gains for wheat were preceded by sharp downturns of prices at the start owing to setbacks yesterday at Winnipeg and Liverpool while American exchanges were not in session. The effect of foreign market action, however, disappeared in short order when authoritative reports showed drought and heat in the United States were intensifying fast.

Feverish fluctuations of a cent or more a bushel in less than a minute at times resulted from intervals of profit-taking on a huge scale, but at no stage was the market's general upward trend reversed in any lasting degree. Sharpest advances of the day followed Washington announcement that little or no interruption of heat and drought appeared probable in the next 24 hours. At the day's top figures, wheat was up more than 29 cents a bushel for the past six weeks, corn up about 18 cents, and oats up 20 cents.

Unofficial June crop summaries to be issued tomorrow are expected in part only to indicate the damage due to heat and drought. Data represented will not include major injury inflicted for several days past. Estimates current place spring wheat yields at 125,000,000 to 150,000,000 bushels compared with prospects of 270,000,000,000 a year ago. Winter wheat is expected to range from 425,000,000 to 450,000,000 bushels, against latest government forecasts of 461,000,000.

Corn and oats were governed chiefly by wheat action.

Provisions rose with grains.

STOCK PRICES TURN DOWNWARD

By Frederick Gardner,
Associated Press Financial Writer.

New York, May 31.—(AP)—Overshadowed by the rise in grains, stocks sold lower today as the month came to a drab close in security markets.

Weakness centered in steel shares, on threat of a strike in the industry and expectation of a summer slump in demand. U. S. Steel Common and Bethlehem sold fractionally under previous 1934 lows, losses of fractions to about 3 points were general among steel shares. One inactive issue, A. M. Byers Preferred, lost nearly 6 points in small transactions.

Trading picked up only slightly after the Memorial Day recess. Sales in the stock exchange totaled 438,400 shares compared with 379,525 Tuesday, a ten-year low record.

Gains in the creeping advance in stocks which extended through last Monday were largely eliminated. The average of 90 stocks closed 1.5 points lower at 76.3.

Aside from steeel strike threats in the textile industry and labor unrest elsewhere accentuated the feeling of uncertainty which has been evident in markets lately.

In absence of demand, small liquidation was sufficient to depress stock prices. American Can, American Telephone, Santa Fe, Chrysler, General Motors, General Electric, Illinois Central, International Telephone, Consolidated Gas, Westinghouse and other standard issues sagged fractionally to more than a point.

Celanese, Industrial Rayon and other textile shares moved off with the market but were not especially weak.

Mid-week trade news did not attract much attention against the background of labor unrest and crop developments. A recovery of one point in steel operations, as estimated by the Iron Age, was discounted in part because buyers have been stocking on possibility of a steel strike.

Armour of Illinois Preferred dropped about 2 points after the curb exchange announced suspension of trading on a "when issued" basis in new preferred and common to be issued under its recapitalization plan.

The decline in brokers' loans in recent weeks was reversed the past week. The weekly Federal Reserve statement showed a gain of $10,000,000 in brokers' loans to $916,000,000.

Money in circulation increased $22,000,000 to $5,338,000,000, but was $187,000,000 below the total a year ago. Monetary gold stock increased $10,000,000 to $7,776,000,000.

LIVESTOCK MARTS ARE "CONFUSED"

Chicago, May 31. —(AP)— Livestock markets were confused today, with a new season's peak price for best heavy steers and raising prices for large hogs and lowering prices for others being recorded.

Hogs that weighed more than 220 pounds brought prices as much as 10 cents better than Tuesday. A top of $3.75 was paid for the better swine but the bulk of lighter grades, forced to market because of lack of feed and water in the drought, could command only lower quotations.

Today's run totaled 35,000 of which 15,000 went to packers.

The offerings ran far ahead of the supply a year ago.

Part of the increase run of bovine stock was due to the fact that markets were closed yesterday but receipts were swelled by dry weather. A new season's top of $9.90, which was 15 cents above that paid Tuesday, went for a load of prime heavy steers. All weighty steers and better grade light steers and yearlings were strong, most fat lights selling at $5.25 to $7.25. Receipts were 13,000, which was greater than normal.

The sheep market was weak. Fed clipped lambs were 10 to 25 cents lower and springers closed 50 cents down. Older sheep were steady to weak. Receipts of 8,000 were fewer than had been expected but more than average for the day.

SUGAR QUOTAS

Washington, May 31.—(AP)—Acting Secretary of Agriculture Tugwell today announced sugar quotas of 4,64[illegible],000 tons for Cuba and island possessions of the United States.

The quotas were: Hawaii 917,000; Puerto Rico, 803,000; Philippine Islands 1,015,000; Cuba 1,902,000; Virgin Island 5,000.

A reserve of 17,060 tons was created for subsequent allotment to full quota countries and the administration has previously announced a total of 1,817,000 tons for beet and cane sugar producers of the United States.

CHAPTER THIRTY-TWO

Stanley went each day to the little bookshop. She had found a real pleasure in her work. Customers were few and in the dimness and quiet of the old shop Stanley found much time to dip into the books which lined the walls quite to the low ceiling. At first she was a wanderer in their midst, but gradually certain books began to emerge and mean something to her. She learned in a surprisingly short time how to put her hand on nearly any volume in the place. She found a genuine pleasure in selling a book she had read and loved, to a person who would share her delight in it. And if she found this association with the old books pleasant, it was enlivened and enhanced by the presence of Felix Rose. He said little, but Stanley learned to listen gravely to what he did say, to remember it afterward. She began to think him a rather splendid old man, and she wanted John Harmon to know him. She thought he had something that John Harmon needed—a repose, an impartial judgment, a simple understanding. He had lived with books and men—and he had learned to discriminate among both, very wisely. He had learned what to discard and what to cherish. Stanley envied him this sense of value, which comes only with age—and not always then; she envied him his serenity which she so much desired and which seemed always to be eluding her.

She had come very near to happiness in these months since her marriage but now she moved in the shadow of John Harmon's depression. Try though he might, and he did try hard, he could not conceal from her the fact that the book was not coming on as it should, and because it wasn't things could not be as gay and beautifully right as they had been in those weeks before Christmas when life had been so strangely sweet and uncomplicated.

And all the time Stanley was thinking about something and trying not to at the same time. She thought of it while she was putting the kettle on to boil, while she was walking through winter sunlight or gloom to work, while she was lying sleepless in bed listening to the now frenzied, now stumbling click of John Harmon's typewriter. He said he could not write a "smart novel about smart people" and never see any, never know any—never move among them. Well, Stanley knew where to find smart people—the kind of people John Harmon wanted to know, the kind he had come to New York to know, the kind he had developed such an uncanny flair for writing about and had tried to put into a book and was slowly breaking his heart because he wasn't succeeding. She knew them. She had only to make the effort and she could easily get in touch with them. There were Perry Deverest—and Marcia—and Nigel Stern. She thought of Perry and the things he did so well, of Marcia and her dinner parties, of Nigel Stern and his beautiful studio, of Dennis St. John and her clever drawings—all this she could give John Harmon. Perry would come at a word from her, Marcia would find a young author interesting table garnishment. Nigel Stern would, perhaps, welcome them more casually, but no less delightfully.

But all this meant going back; going back where things had hurt her so. It meant, perhaps, Drew—seeing him again. She was not sure she wanted to see Drew again—ever. Was not sure just what would happen to her if she did. She had found happiness and peace and security with John Harmon and she clung to them fiercely, hating to risk them; dreading to face what she was not sure of, what she did not venture even to think about.

But she loved John Harmon and his peace of mind was precious to her. Finally it became more precious to her than her own—which she could not have anyway—so she sat down and wrote to Perry Deverest. She told him quite simply what had happened to her—about her love for John Harmon and their life together and the book John Harmon was writing. She asked him to come to tea—she set a date.

Perry's reply was immediate and exactly like him.

"I shall surely be with you on Tuesday. I am very anxious to meet the man who did all the things for you I couldn't do, though I wanted to so much. He must clearly understand that I've always been in love with you and still am, but that I respect his right to you, and that as long as he can make you happy I shall never interfere.

"Yours devotedly, Perry."

Stanley showed John Harmon the letter and said, "I wrote and asked him to come to tea—he's a very old and good friend of mine. I hope you will like each other."

John Harmon read the letter and grinned appreciatively. "It's practically a challenge but I accept it! Have him to tea by all means—it will be great to know somebody like him. That's what I need, Stanley—mental stimulus, contact with new and keen personalities. I'm starved for it, I always have been. That's why you were a godsend to me, last summer—you still are, precious," he stopped to put his arms about her, hold her close, his lips against her hair, "but you're me now—you're no longer outside, you're inside, close to my heart. Do you know what I mean, Stanley?"

"Yes, I know." And she smiled at him through a blur of sudden tears and pressed her face against his shoulder.

* * *

"Perry." Stanley gave him both her hands.

"Hello, darlin', it's great seeing you again."

"And you, Perry. I've wanted to—many times."

"Then why—"

"Never mind that now." She took his hat and stick and smiled at him with eyes that somehow continued to both laugh and weep, so mixed was the emotion in them.

"It's been nearly a year."

"Don't I know it? Let me look at you, darlin'."

She stood quite still in front of him, straight and slim in a dull blue dress. Her hair lay in the same smooth waves revealing the beautiful curve of her head; her eyes met his with the same clear, friendly understanding. He stared at her with lazily smiling, half-closed blue eyes and found her not so very different—more lovely perhaps, with a more complete charm, a more fulfilled beauty.

"That'll do," he said, turning away abruptly. "Even a cat may look at a king—but not too long. Charmin' room you have here, perfectly delightful."

Outside, a cold rain, half sleet, half snow, beat against the window-panes and froze there. Inside, a fire burned on the hearth, the blue candles were lighted against the thickening twilight and the room lay serene and beautiful in their mellow glow. Stanley had bought primroses and set them in black pots on the deep window-sills. She had placed the tea-table close to the fire and laid out the pink tea cups and the pewter teapot. She had drawn the wing chair up beside the tea-table and balanced it with her own little slat-back rocker, which had come down to them for Christmas from the attic in Vermont.

"I love it. I've been very happy here, Perry."

"Yes, one can believe that."

They sat down in front of the fire. It was very quiet in the room—the shadows closed about them gently, the fire leaped and danced on the hearth.

"And the husband, Stanley, are you going to produce him?"

"Of course. But I wanted a little time with you first. He'll be in shortly—you'll like him, Perry—he's sort of wonderful."

"He must be—to make you look like that." And then Perry remembered another man who had made her look, if not exactly like that then near enough.

"And what of Drew, Stanley? Is that over?"

"I don't know, Perry."

She met his eyes directly. "I've tried to think it was—not when I married John Harmon, but since, during these last few months. But I can't be sure; perhaps I'll never be sure."

"Is that why you haven't let me see you?"

"Yes. I didn't want to be reminded of things—things I was trying to forget."

"And now?"

"It's John Harmon, you see. I'm going to be quite honest with you, Perry—I've never been anything else. I've been very happy here alone, I haven't needed anything more—but John Harmon has. That's why I wrote to you."

"And I have been called in to supply them, I suppose," drawled Perry lighting a cigarette carefully.

"Will you mind so very much, my dear? Just dropping in, now and then, having tea with us?"

Perry set down his teacup, reached for her hand, held it lightly but firmly between his. "Forgive me, Stanley, that was very young of me. You know I'll do anything I can—now that you've let me find you again. But, first, you must promise to come back—where you belong. It's silly of you, Stanley, and a little stupid to continue to run away from things. You can't do it forever, you know. Hide in some lovely old room like this, tucked away from everybody. Some day you'll have to come back. And I can't believe you'll find it so hard. You look very happy, Stanley, and very sure of yourself."

"I am, Perry, to a certain extent. Beyond that—" She shrugged, smiled at him a little wistfully. "I wonder does one ever know just how sure they are of things?"

Select Jury, Present Arguments in Hauck Trial Here Thursday

Basing their defense on the records of the Ayers National Bank, the defense in the case of the People vs. Louis P. Hauck, charged with larceny and embezzlement of funds belonging to the City of Jacksonville, will attempt to prove that the charges made against the former assistant to H. K. Chenoweth, city treasurer during the alleged peculations, did not take place. Edward Pree, of Springfield, defense counsel, outlined the defense in the opening arguments before the jury in the circuit court room late yesterday afternoon.

The state will base its charges upon allegations that the peculations upon records of special assessment funds from the South Side Sewage disposal assessment, State's Attorney Wilfred Absher, in charge of the case, said in his opening statement. Both attorneys stated that they would call a number of accountants to testify as to their claims.

Jhdge Victor Hemphill excused the jury yesterday afternoon after the presentation of the opening arguments, permitting them to separate for the night. They were told to report at the court room at nine o'clock this morning, at which time evidence in support of the opposite sides of the case will be placed on record.

Four jurors were selected during the morning yesterday, and it was 3:59 p.m. before the final panel of four men were accepted. Each side excused about the same number of prospective jurors on peremptory challenges. Jurors selected were Walter Alhorn, James E. Samples, Roy Stice, Hugh Norfleet, A. G. Leedy, Otto Lieken, G. A. Bennett, Carl Graubner, Thomas O'Connell, William Rynders, James Gaitens, nd Joe Sullivan.

Presents Case

State's Attorney Absher opened the presentation of the case by explaining the 12 counts in the indictment. He said that Hauck was specifically charged with the embezzlement of $2,663.93 from the special assessment accounts during the month of March, 1931. The state's attorney said that he would show according to records kept by Hauck that he received $4,600 during that month and turned over to the city, according to a report he made for the city treasurer, then H. K. Chenoweth, to sign, only $1,975.

The state's attorney told of the discovery of the alleged shortage when an audit was made by the city officials of all of the city's accounts. Hauck was informed of the shortage at that time, and at a conference with the state's attorney, City Attorney O. N. Foreman, Mayor W. A. Wainwright and other city officials, Hauck stated that he would not accept any figures except those compiled by himself. Hauck was extended the privilege of examining the city records under the eyes of the city officials, Mr. Absher said, and later held a conference, with Judge Paul Samuell, details of which will be told in the course of the trial.

Pree Talks

Mr. Pree, in opening his statement, declared that the indictment must not be held against Hauck, because it was merely the machine by which Hauck was brought before the court for a trial. Mr. Pree also declared that he would show that every penny paid to Hauck, as a clerk of H. K. Chenoweth's, was in turn deposited in the bank, and that records of the Ayers National bank, where both Mr. Chenoweth and Hauck were employed, would be put in evidence to show that every cent had been deposited to the city's credit.

The prosecution, Mr. Pree further stated, was confined to the month of March, 1931 in proving that Hauck actually took the money as alleged in the indictment, and that any other evidence would not be admissable in this trial. It also is the duty of the prosecution, he said, to prove that Hauck converted the money to his own use.

Hauck sat at a table with his attorney, Edward Pree of Springfield, while Pree and State's Attorney W. H. Absher conducted an examination of prospective jurors. Although officials uncovered evidence of a shortage of about $54,000 in city special assessment funds, Hauck faces a charge involving a much smaller sum. The indictment accuses him of larceny and embezzlement of $2,663.93.

The case first attracted widespread attention when city officials announced that a shortage had been discovered and later that arrangements were being made for restoration of a large portion of the missing bonds and cash. About $44,000 was paid over to the City of Jacksonville only a few months ago. The money thus restored to the city treasury was alleged to have been in Hauck's possession.

However, the charge against him in circuit court involves only the specific allegation of April 7, 1931. Attorney Pree in examining jurors this morning made it plain that Hauck is accused only of this one offense. He repeatedly brought this fact to attention as he questioned a number of men in the jury box.

State's Attorney Absher conducted the examination for the prosecution and he and the defense together excused a number of prospects. The majority of the jurors examined had read of the case in the Jacksonville newspapers. There were a number, however, who had not formed an opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the defendant.

Hauck was for a number of years an employee of the Ayers bank and had charge of collection of special assessment funds during the terms of H. C. Clement and H. K. Chenoweth as city treasurer.

ILLINOIS COUNTIES NOT IN DROUTH AREA IS RULING

Pasturage of Contracted Areas Not Permitted Here Says Committee

Many corn-Hog contract signers here have heard reports during the last day or so which have led them to believe that they might pasture their contracted acres, according to the local corn-hog committee.

Administrative ruling No. 58 reads as follows it is pointed out. Amendment of administrative rulings No. 20 and 40—contracts covering farms situated in areas officially designed as 1934 drouth areas by the Secretary of Agriculture are hereby modified to permit the pasturing of contracted acres planted to any pasture crop named in administrative ruling No. 20 a, and ruling No. 40, including sweet clover and old or new seedings, regardless of whether or not such pasture crops were planted with a nurse crop.

This administrative ruling is for drouth relief purposes only, and the pasturing privileges contained herein extend only to July 1, 1934, except upon proclamation of the Secretary further extending such date.

Administrative Ruling No. 59. Fodder Corn, and Tonnage Crops in Drouth Areas: Contracts for acreage reduction and production control of corn or tobacco, covering farms situated in areas hereafter officially designed as drouth areas by the Secretary of Argiculture are hereby modified to permit the planting, in excess of the acreage permitted under each of such contracts, of fodder corn for roughage purposes only (not to be harvested for grain) and of forage crops (including barley and oats) for pasture or hay only. Provided, however, such planting shall not be made on acres contracted or rented to the Secretary under any commodity contract, nor shall such excess planting be made before the date established or to be established for each of such drouth areas by proclamation of the Secretary. Crops in excess of these heretofore permitted by such contracts planted pursuant to this modification shall not be harvested for grain.

At the time compliance is checked each producer will be required to designate the excess acreages of crops to be harvested as fodder or forage under this ruling. The A. A. A. may designate the date before which fodder corn on excess acreages is to be harvested.

Both administrative rulings No. 58 and 59 become effective immediately in certain counties of the following states: Minnesota, N. Dakota, S. Dakota, Montana, Wisconsin, Wyoming.

In certain other counties of the following states both rulings are effective except that plantings of excess corn acres for roughage must not be made before the dates specified.

June 10, '34, S. Dakota.

June 25, '34, Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Wyoming.

Proposed Municipal Light Plant Talked At Council Meeting

The fact that Jacksonville's application for a $500,000 P. W. A. loan and grant seems to be moving along slowly is not discouraging, Alex Van Praag, engineer who drew up this city's application for a municipally owned light and power plant and distribution system, told the members of the city council at a meeting held in the council chambers last night. Mr. Van Praag, who recently returned from Washington where he went in the interest of several projects submitted by his firm, told the council that there are one or two ways in which the government consideration of the matter might be hastened.

Sale of revenue producing bonds amounting to $376,000, to private individuals, would go a long way toward speeding up favorable government action on the Jacksonville application, Van Praag told the council. If the bonds were sold privately, the engineer said, the government probably would be ready to act on a grant of $124,000 much quicker. Regardless of what action is taken, the city will have to vote on the proposition of a municipal light and power plant, he said, and that the best way to finance the project would be through revenue producing bonds, which would not be direct obligations of the city.

Private financing of the project, if the government grant and loan fails to materialize, is possible, City Attorney O. N. Foreman told the council after Mr. Van Praag had concluded his report. Mr. Foreman told of a two day visit in Chicago during which he investigated this possibility, while doing all he could to hasten the project now in the hands of the federal government.

Cumbersome machinery, built up by Secretary Harold Ickes, administrator of the P. W. A., to keep out graft and corruption, is delaying activity all along the line, Van Praag told the council. Secretary Ickes intent upon keeping his administration clear of all charges of favoritism, has evolved a system of examinations which have been successful thus far in keeping even congressmen from hurrying projects through the department.

Explains Operation.

Explaining the operation of the P. W. A., Van Praag said that after the projects pass the state board, they are sent to Washington where they are received by a sorting division. The sorting division places projects of a similar type in one group, dockets them, and then hold them until they are called for by the head of the division into which the project falls. A group of projects then are forwarded to the federal engineering department, where each project is assigned to an engineer for checking purposes.

These engineers study the plans thoroughly, taking from three days to a week on each project, and then draw up a written report, which is submitted to the group chief, who in turn studies the report, and sends it on to the department chief. Once through the engineering department, the project is then submitted to the financial department, where it again undergoes examination by a staff of experts. If successful in passing the financial department, it is sent to the legal department, where another close scrutiny is given the plans.

The machine Secretary Ickes has set up is considerably like an army unit, Van Praag said. No one in the P. W. A. will touch an application until it has been signed by the proper authorities farther down the line. This process prevents any hurrying congressmen receiving the same treatment as non-political but interested persons. There were nearly 10,000 applications on file in Washington at one time, and of this number, 2,500 have been acted upon at present, while the other 7,500 are awaiting action.

Speaker of the House Henry T. Rainey, of Carrollton, conferred with Van Praag during his stay in Washington, and said he would do all he could to help the Jacksonville project along. There is a bill before congress, which will be passed, for $500,000,000 which will be allocated to the P. W. A. for non-federal projects setting at rest rumors that applications now in Washington are doomed.

Rumors Unfavorable.

Rumors have come out of the P. W. A. headquarters that projects for light and power plants are not looked upon kindly. The rumors have not been backed up by persons connected with the P. W. A., Van Praag said. P. W. A. authorities have declared they are basing their decisions upon the merits of the applications. Two projects, one from Springfield, Ill., and the other from Hinsdale, Ill., both for extensions to present municipal plants, have been granted.

Taking up the protest to the application, filed by the Illinois Power & Light Corp., Van Praag said that if P. W. A. projects were awarded on the basis of merit, there would be no question about the success of the Jacksonville application. He pointed out that he estimated the sale of electricity in Jacksonville amounted to $250,000, and that the I. P. & L. in its protest, said its income was $246,000. Van Praag estimated that the municipal plant would be able to service one half of this business, bringing in an income of $125,000 a year, and said that in two places where his company has installed municipal plants, they obtained 66 per cent of the business at one plant, and 80 per cent at the other plant, in a year's time.

Taking up the point made by the I. P. & L. protest, that Jacksonville apparently was satisfied with its present rates, because no protest had been filed with the Illinois Commerce Commission, City Attorney Orville Foreman pointed out that Jacksonville had protested, within the past year, the gas rates, and had received a slight reduction. He said it was a stroke of good fortune that Jacksonville learned of a proposed protest by other cities, and was able to enter the city in the fight against gas rates.

Alderman Harlan Williamson asked if there was anything the council could do to speed up the application, and heard from Van Praag that most of the applications thrown out thus far were denied because of financial arrangements. Projects turned down by the examiners are forwarded to the board of reviews, which holds hearings if the makers of the application wish to continue their efforts to obtain federal funds.

P. W. A. Encouragement

Encouragement by the P. W. A. for cities to sell their own securities, and seek only an outright federal grant, has been given in recent weeks. The government does not desire to take up the bonds which cities must issue to secure funds for projects, but is ready to make outright grants quicker if cities sell their own bonds. The government still retains the right to award contracts if they make grants, but they consider more favorably those applications which seek only outright grants.

The city is not interested in private financing of the municipal plant if government aid is forthcoming, City Attorney Foreman told the council he informed interests in Chicago. Mr. Foreman said he went to Chicago to check up on an offer made by the Public Ownership League of America, interested in municipal ownership of public utilities and found that its representative, Lawrence Raleigh, and the league was sincere in its efforts.

Attorney Foreman told the council that Raleigh took him to a small banking house, interested in investing in municipal bonds, and left with them a copy of the application. The company promised to study the application and to report to him what they could do in the way of assisting the city to finance the project privately. Mr. Foreman said he checked up on the firm and found that they were comparatively new, but thoroughly reliable.

R. C. Allyn & Company, which purchased bonds from this city before, said they were not in a position to accept any electric certificates, but that they could put the city in contact with firms interested in projects.

PAYMENT OF TAXES IN SCOTT COUNTY SLOW, REPORT

Other News Notes of Interest From Winchester And Vicinity

Winchester, May 31.—The office of the collector of taxes for Scott county was busy today receiving payments from those who had put off paying their 1933 taxes until the very last minute. Despite the last minute payments the tax receipts for this year are far in arrears of the receipts last year. Sheriff Harry C. Montgomery stated that up until today there had only been payments of about 25 per cent of the total taxes assessed for the year 1934. At the same time a year ago all taxes had been paid except about 25 per cent.

Last year during the bank moratorium many people paid their taxes in cash which it was thought had been kept in hoarding. Apparently the money is simply not available at this time and many of the largest tax payers of the county are going to suffer the 1 per cent penalty which is inflicted monthly upon all delinquent taxes. Many of the farmers are waiting to receive the money from the federal government for corn-hog reduction to pay their taxes. It is said that this money will probably not be available for at least another month.
